

Brit's big burrito pigout

The crowd at Bimbo's Bitchin' Burrito Kitchen in Seattle looked on in amazement when Britney Spears stopped in for lunch recently. It wasn't that they were so impressed to see a big star — but they were astounded by how much she could eat! “She ordered three Inferno Burritos dripping with cheese, guacamole and beans. One usually feeds two people!” says fellow diner Robert Miller. “She ate every last morsel, downed her Red Bull and let out the most glorious burp I've ever heard!” Britney stood up and said, “Ooh that was good! Thanks.” We're sure Britney burned all the calories dancing onstage, but hopefully the audience wasn't downwind!

Justin who?
Britney is only dreaming of burritos, not boys.

